

TRIPPING THE LIGHT FANTASTIC

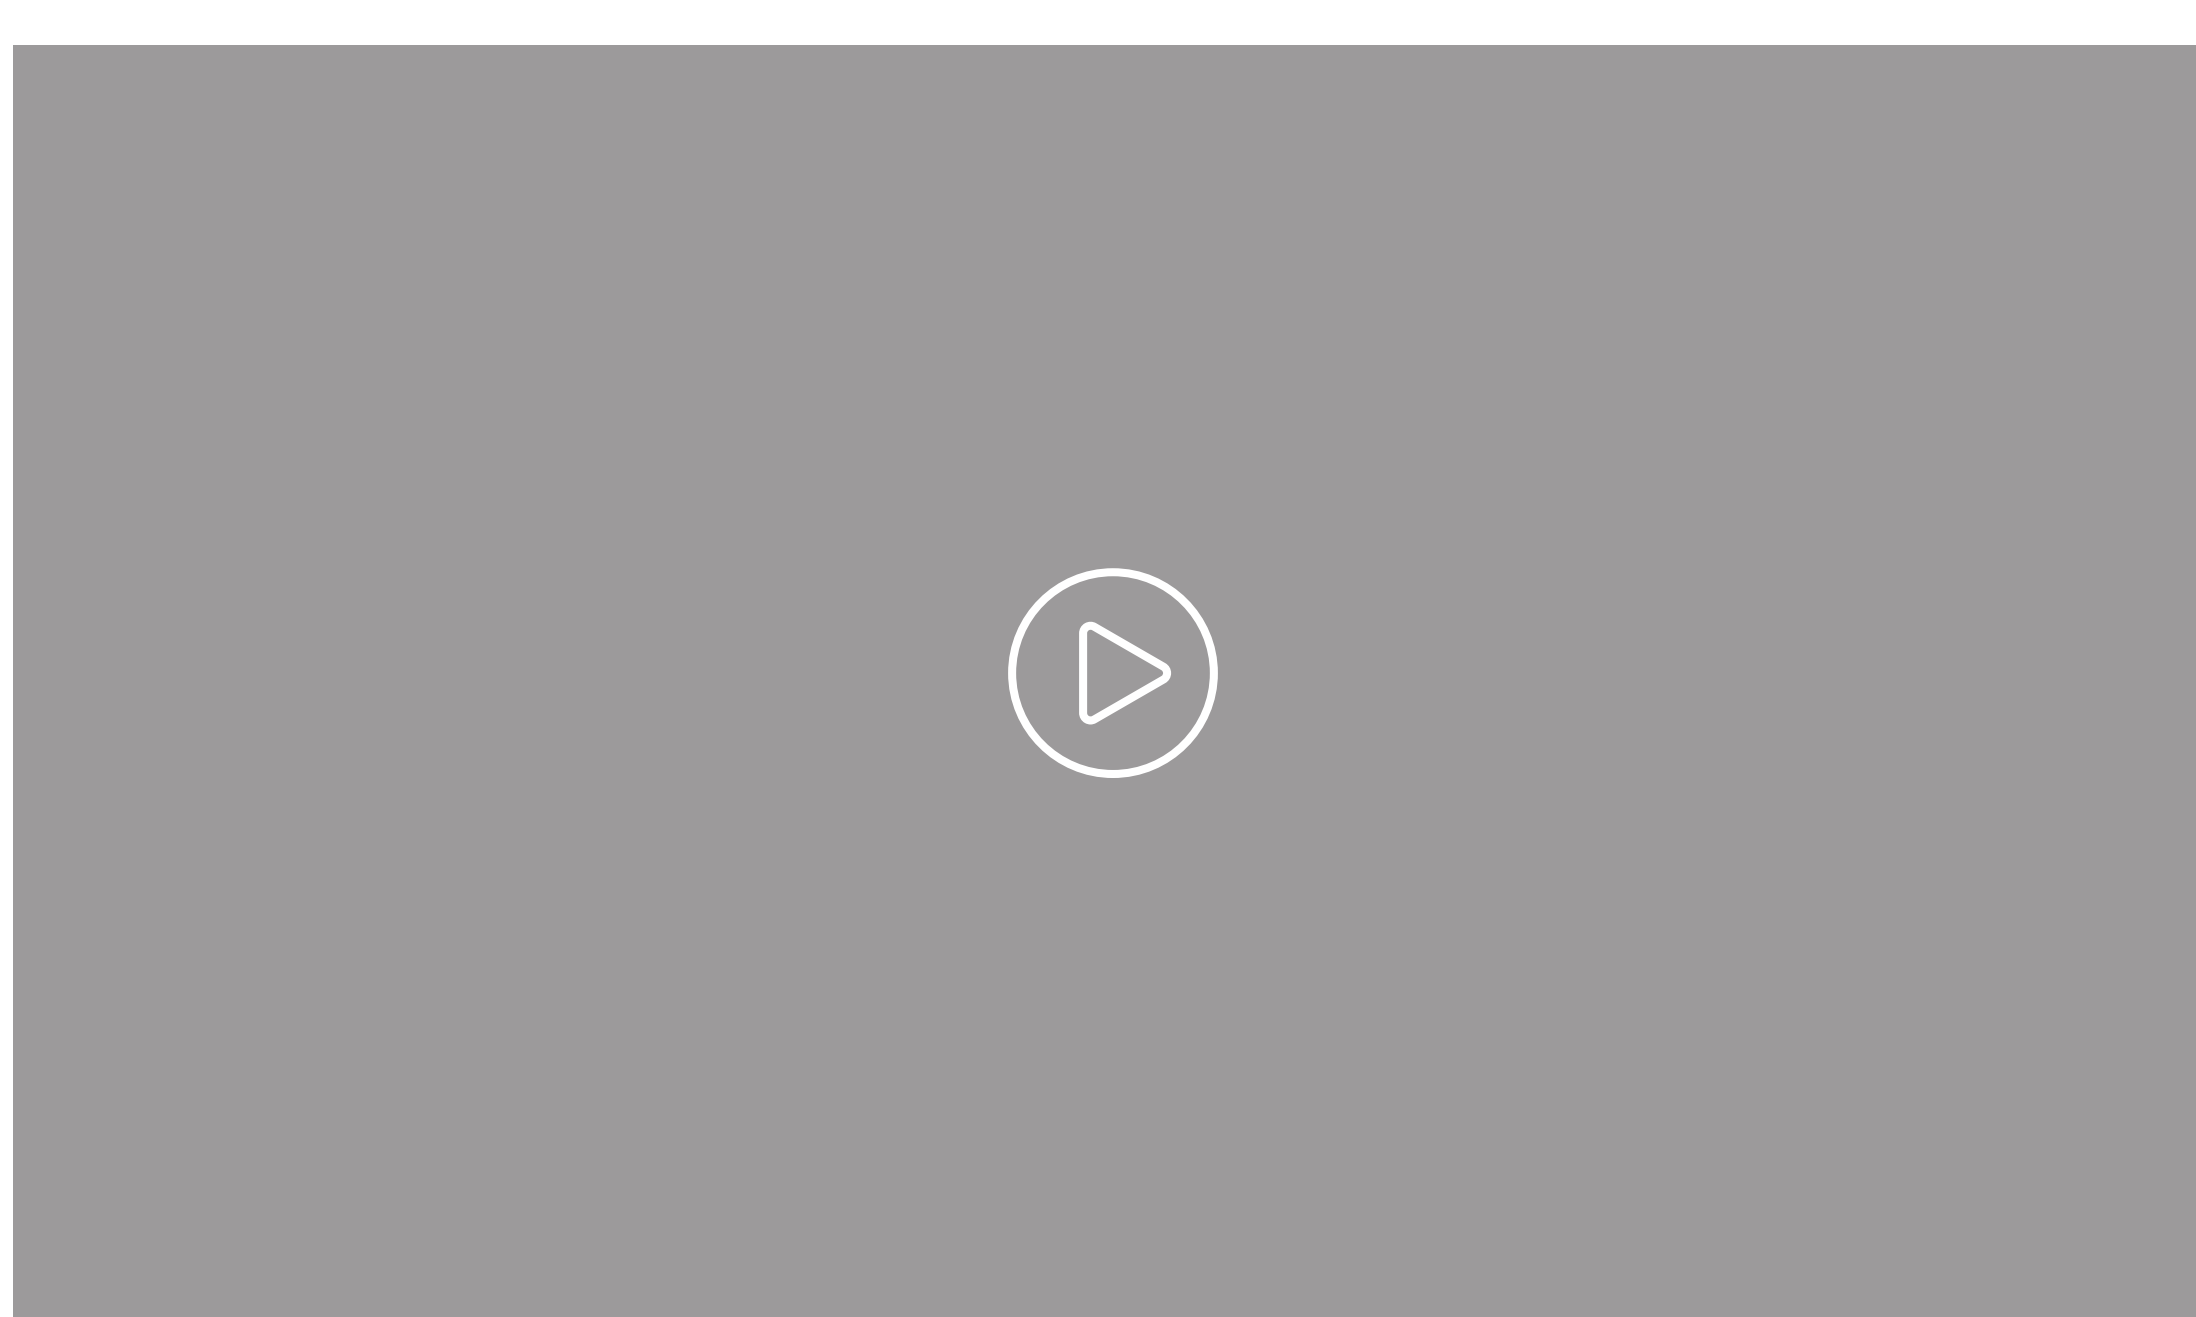

OUR STORY

Collektklove's journey started with a quest to create exquisite objects that'll take you on a magical fantastical ride in the comfort of your own headspace. An offshoot of klove, our parent label, all of our pieces are handmade with a lot of love. The idea behind Collektklove is to observe how minimalist design can make maximum impact when it comes to everyday objects that can be playful, functional, and beautiful—all at once.

OUR FOUNDERS

Prateek Jain and Gautam Seth have a vision to transform spatial design into surreal dimensions and seek to redefine the way luxury lighting is designed and produced in India. As passionate travellers, they seek to constantly explore the terrain of memory and how it can transform into creating objects that are eternal. Through Collektklove, the design duo aim to transform everyday objects into whimsical souvenirs for your space.

THE ART OF HANDBLOWN GLASS

A technique originating from ancient times, blowing glass has evolved over the years into a beautiful form of art. At Collektklove, we'll follow the path set by klove of continuing this age-old tradition by supporting the local Indian artisans. We believe in slow design, artisanal craftsmanship and handmade with love in India.
