Raniwala 1881

Raniwala 1881's illustrious history began with Rai Bahadur Champalal of Beawar, the great-great-grandfather of Abhishek and Abhiyant Raniwala – the current generation behind the brand. Bestowed the title of 'Rai Bahadur' by the then British government, Champalal was a connoisseur of gems and stones and known as 'Raniwala' in the 17th century. Specialists in jadau jewellery, the Raniwala family continues to create award-winning pieces with the finest gemstones in traditional, artisanal techniques. Since several years, Raniwala 1881 remains the leading name behind most jadau and polki collections, endorsed by India's leading jewellers.
